

FRANKIE (W/Zoe)

EXT. DINER - DAY

Frankie sits in his older model car with the windows down. Zoe comes out of the diner and gets in the passenger seat.

ZOE

Hey.

FRANKIE

Did I see you talking to Jaxon today?

ZOE

Yeah, so?

FRANKIE

About what?

ZOE

About what he wanted to eat and drink. You want to know what he ordered too?

FRANKIE

I don't want you talking to him about anything. I think I've made that pretty clear over the years, but every time I turn around you're talking to him, laughing with him or worse, defending him.

ZOE

I was just doing my job, lighten up.

FRANKIE

No, you're light enough for both of us. You need to honor Mom and Dad and that does not include associating with a jerk like that.

ZOE

He didn't do anything wrong and you still think he's the bad guy?

FRANKIE

I don't think it, I know it. You know what happened and you know the price that was paid. You wanna pretend everything's fine? Go ahead, but I'm not.

ZOE

Yeah, well what's done is done. We just need to move on.

FRANKIE

I can't just flip a switch like you. Just move on?

Frankie is mad. He starts the car and screeches off.
